U. S. NAMES 11 JAP CITIES NEXT TO GO

GUAM, Saturday, July 28 (AP)—The Twentieth Air Force bluntly announced to Japan today the 11 cities which are next on the B-29 fire-bombing target list and, in the unprecedented pre-strike warning, announced that four or more of the cities will be ignited within the next few days.

The warning, punctuating Allied demands for Japanese surrender, was issued by Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay, who advised 890,000 civilians to flee to safety and "restore peace by demanding new and good leaders who will end the war."

In a frank effort to convince the Japanese people their cause is hopeless and the military is powerless to protect them, Lemay gave the Japanese this warning.

As this was written Superforts from the 73d wing were returning to Saipan after showering 60,000 warning pamphlets on each of the 11 cities.

Here are the cities which are wondering if they rank first on the list of the dreaded Superforts:

Ichinomiya, Tsu, Ujiyamada, Nagaoka, Nishinomiya, Aomori, Ogaki and Koriyama, all munitions, transport and industrial centers on Honshu; Uwajima, a shipping and war plant center on Shikoku; Kurume, rail hub, manufacturing center and location of an arsenal, on Kyushu, and Hokkaido, financial and manufacturing center of Hokkaido Island.

Uwajima and Ichinomiya are the only ones bombed before in incendiary raids.

Sometime within the next few days Lemay said "a normal force of Superforts carrying about 3,500 tons of bombs" will strike at industrial targets in four or more cities. Strikes recently averaged from 450 to 600 planes each.

Japan Spurns Ultimatum

By JAMES D. WHITE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 (AP)—Domei agency reported today Japan would ignore the American-British-Chinese ultimatum to surrender or be destroyed. The Nipponese news agency did not state the source of its "authoritative" report. But it did disclose that the cabinet had met in Premier Suzuki's home and that the Allied surrender proclamation was discussed after a report by Foreign Minister Togo.

"Japan will prosecute the war of Greater East Asia to the bitter end in accordance with her fixed policy, it was authoritatively stated," said the Domei dispatch.

Earlier, a Domei commentator said absence of Marshal Stalin's name from the surrender proclamation was "conspicuous" and "would seem to indicate that (President) Truman has failed in attempting to obtain what he obviously intended to."

He conceded, however, that "President Truman did succeed in persuading Churchill and Stalin to take up the question of joint action toward East Asia."

The commentator declared that the ousting of Prime Minister Churchill showed that the British public in general is now more preoccupied with peaceful reconstruction work at home than in prosecution of a bloody, costly warfare far out in the East Asiatic theater."

Jap Surrender or Defeat By Christmas Seen Likely

By JOSEPH A. BORS

WASHINGTON, July 27 (INS)—High military and political sources in Washington today predicted the unconditional surrender or complete defeat of Japan by Christmas at least. The ultimatum issued by the United States, Great Britain and China at the Potsdam conference brought Japan to the brink of decision between peace with honor or defeat with disaster.

Opinions of military authorities and congressional leaders vary sharply as to the time it will take to defeat Japan.

Some authorities believe the Nipponese will surrender to the Potsdam terms within 30 days. Others expect Tokyo will surrender by Christmas, but not until the Japanese homeland has been invaded by American troops.

The same circles hailed the ultimatum from Potsdam as a long-needed clarification of the unconditional surrender terms vital to termination of the Pacific war at the earliest possible time.

The ultimatum warned Japan to surrender at once or face "prompt and utter destruction" of the Nipponese empire.

Russia did not participate in the ultimatum because she is not at war with Japan.

There were three Washington views about Russia's future conduct toward Japan.

One, that Russia will come into the war with Japan if the Nipponese do not surrender within 30 to 60 days.

The second, that Russia has been so weakened by the war with Germany that it will be unable to play a role in the Japanese war.

The third, that Russia is standing on the sidelines deliberately, knowing the Allies can defeat Japan without her help, and playing a role of peace messenger.

Briefly the terms of the Pacific Allies provide:

1—Sanctity to Emperor Hirohito by guaranteeing freedom of religion to the Japanese.

2—There shall be eliminated for all time the authority and influence of those who had deceived and misled the people of Japan into embarking on world conquest.

3—Until a new order is established the Allies shall occupy vital points in the empire.

4—The terms of the Cairo declaration shall be carried out, and Japanese sovereignty shall be limited to the Islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu, Shikoku, and such minor islands as shall be determined.

5—The Japanese military forces shall be disarmed but will be permitted to return to their homes to lead peaceful and productive lives.

6—The Allies do not intend to enslave the Japanese as a race or destroy them as a nation, but stern justice shall be meted out to all war criminals.

7—Japan shall be permitted to maintain such industries as will sustain her economy but not those which would enable her to rearm for war. Eventual participation in world trade shall be permitted.

8—Occupying forces of the Allies shall be withdrawn from Japan as soon as these objectives have been accomplished.

British Ease Curfew For Good Germans

BRITISH 21ST ARMY GROUP HQ., Germany, July 27 (INS — The German people have been behaving so well that British occupation authorities decided today to give them more freedom.

Beginning Sunday, the curfew, which now extends from 10 at night to 5 in the morning, will run from 10:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m. The relaxed curfew will not be altered by the shortening winter days unless there is an outbreak of werewolf activity.

Reports Japs Readying People for Surrender

MANILA, July 27 (AP)—Japan's leaders have been preparing the country for surrender before invasion, a former Japanese Domei news war correspondent declared today.

He said the Navy would have a dominant voice in the final decision on the Allied surrender ultimatum.

The correspondent, Ken Murayama, American-born former chief of Domei's English section in Manila, said he expected Japan to capitulate within a few weeks.

Murayama said Adm. Keisuke Okada is the current "strong man" behind the Japanese cabinet and spokesman for the naval faction.

"The 34-year-old New York-born correspondent said Okada has direct access to Emperor Hirohito.

Murayama said the recent regimentation of the Japanese people, which Tokyo labels as preparation for defense of the homeland, actually is intended to provide a tight check-rein on fanatics in event of sudden capitulation.

Return of Vets Slowed Down

WASHINGTONN, July 27 (AP)—Maj. Gen. John M. Franklin told a Senate committee today that the "military timetable for defeat of Japan" has been moved up. Because of this, more shipping will be required in the Pacific, he said, and the rate of return of troops from urope to this country will therefore be slower from now on.

Franklin, acting chief of transportation for the Army service forces, indicated that more troops might be moved directly from Europe to the Pacific than originally planned. But under questioning from Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan he said he had not intended to give that impression.

He said, "The same number of troops will be brought to this country and the furlough policy will not be changed."

Franklin said, however, there would be a reduction in the rate of return of troops—now ahead of schedule—in August.

He testified before the Senate war investigating committee which is inquiring into a transportation crisis resulting from the heavy transcontinental movement of troops.

(Gen. Jacob L. Devers told a news conference here yesterday that the plan for the Pacific now is to mass a force which will deliver a "single crushing blow against Japan.")

"A larger portion of our shipping must be used from now on for direct shipments from Europe to the Pacific and from our own west coast to the Pacific," Franklin testified. He added that the war speedup is "a result of our recent air, sea and ground successes," and said "top priority munst be given to the movement of the forces and supplies needed by Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Nimintz."

Earlier this week the committee heard Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, complain that the War Department had not kept him advised on troop arrivals and hence, he had not been able to make adequate arrangements.

Franklin acknowledged that the rate had been stepped up. He said the original plan called for return of about 435,000 men by now but that actually 675,000 men were brought back from Europe during the first 81 days after V-E Day.

British Forces Kill 3000 Japs in Asia

CALCUTTA, July 27 (AP)—British and Empire troops killed more than 3000 Japs and captured more than 400 in six days of fighting along a 77-mile stretch of territory between the Mandalay-Rangoon railroad and the Sittang river, Southeast Asia Command Headquarters said today.

These figures accounted for about half of the force believed pocketed in this area.

Jap Planes Out of Hiding

GUAM, July 27 (AP)—Pillars of fire rose today from the ruins of three small Japanese industrial cities set aflame by Superfortresses as punctuation marks to the Allied ultimatum to Japan to quit the war or be destroyed. The reluctant Jap air force, however, put up some fighter opposition to the new American raid after having made aggressive interception against carrier planes and Liberators over the homeland on Wednesday in an apparent reversal of the recent passive resistance.

The sudden resumption of fighter defense still was not on a great scale.

The Superfortresses, more than 350 strong, lost one plane in dropping 2,200 tons of fire bombs that set great conflagrations raging in the southwestern industrial cities of Omuta, Matsuyama and Tokuyama.

Antiaircraft fire was "nil to moderate," and there was no interception at two targets, but fighters were encountered at the third.

At the same time the Army Far East Air Force of Gen. George C. Kenney disclosed that for the first time since they began raiding Japan from Okinawa on July 3, they ran into fighters over Kyushu on Wednesday.

The Seventh Air Force Liberators had to leave their fighter escort behind because of bad weather. Some 30 Japanese pilots jumped at this seeming chance. In the resultant series of fights, one Liberator was lost, but they shot down at least 11 interceptors and left the aviation center of Tsuiki wreathed in flames and explosions.

Similarly the U. S. Third Fleet's carrier planes met scores of Japanese fighters when they attacked the Kure naval base Wednesday. Nineteen interceptors were shot down.

Extensive damage to four Japanese secondary cities—Hitachi, Hirotsuka, Utsunomiya and Okazaki—resulting from B-29 attacks during the past fortnight was announced by the 20th Air Force today.

Hitachi was hit hardest with 78 per cent of its built-up areas destroyed; Hirotsuka with 41 per cent; Utsunomiya with 32 per cent, and Okazaki with 68 per cent.

Aussie Army And Air Force To Be Cut Half

CANBERRA, July 27 (AP)—Australia plans to reduce her army 50 per cent and her air force nearly as much, but considers it vital that her forces take part in the main offensive against Japan, Prime Minister Chifley told the House of Representatives today.

He said the army would be cut from six divisions to three and the army air force from 53 squadrons to 36, but that the navy would be maintained at its present strength.

Three Royal Australian Air Force squadrons from overseas will be provided as a contribution to the very long range RAF task force in the Pacific.

A token force would be associated if possible with the British in operations to recapture Singapore.

Attlee Now Picking New Labor Cabinet

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, July 27 (AP)—Clement R. Attlee plunged into work today as head of Britain's first Labor government in 14 years, which he has pledged to give top priority to finishing the war with Japan.

There was a general belief that the new prime minister would return ot the Big Three conference at Potsdam during the week-end. It seemed likely, however, he would fill at least the major cabinet offices before leaving. The press speculated that he might make known the top selections today.

A British Press Association correspondent said former Prime Minister Churchill probably would not return to Potsdam, and added that Anthony Eden, foreign secretary in the Churchill government, "will not, of course, go back to Germany."

The triumphant Laborites, holding 390 of the 640 seats in the House of Commons, appeared to be settling down for a long term in office—possibly the full statutory five years.

Labor members of Parliament have been called to meet here tomorrow to re-elect the leader of the party.

New members of the House are scheduled to be sworn in August 1. A new Speaker must be elected, and the British Press Association predicted the post would go again to Col. Clifton Brown. Brown is a Conservative, but the office is a non-partisan one.

Attlee arrived for work well before 10 a. m. His first task was the cabinet selections. Then the Prime Minister must work on the outline of Labor's first reform program, which will be set forth in the King's speech to Parliament at opening ceremonies August 8.

When he returns to Potsdam, Attlee will take with him a foreign minister also pledged to carry on the victorious foreign policy.

Attlee's choice is expected to be Ernest Bevin, former labor minister in the Coalition cabinet.

Candidates Pay

LONDON, July 27 (AP)—The British Treasury collected $89,400 in forfeits yesterday from general election candidates.

British law requires each candidate to post $600 as a sign of good faith. The money is forfeited if the candidate fails to receive an eighth of the total vote in a two-man or three-man race or a tenth of the vote in a field or four or more candidates. Nominees who withdraw also forfeit their bonds.

Most who lost their money failed to get enough votes.

Blum Charges Petain Treason In Power Grab

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS, July 27 (AP)—Leon Blum, French premier in years of the Popular Front before the war, hurled the charge of "treason" at Marshal Petain today and said the old soldier "gave himself powers which may be compared to those of a jungle sovereign."

Petai nis on trial for his life, charged with intelligence with the enemy and plotting against the security of France.

Charles Roux, a diplomate who followed Blum to the stand, said that when France was falling in June of 1940, Petain's predecessor, Paul Reynaud, appealed to President Roosevelt for the American fleet to come into action.

Blum, released only a few weeks ago from German detention, told the High Court of Justice on this fifth day of the trial:

"The people of France, with the foudations of the nation gone, terrorized and overwhelmed, looked for reassurance. Petain told them with all the authority of his past that the armistice was not disonorable. I call that treason."

Questioned whether Petain was treasonable in giving himself dictatorial powers, Blum said:

"He committed an odius abuse of confidence. At Vichy Pierre Lavel led all the maneuvers. Whether he acted on orders of the marshal, I don't know."

In relating the decision to abandon Paris to the oncoming Germans, Blum testified:

"I said Paris not only was the capital of France; it was everything."

After the government had fled to Bordeaux, Blum testified:

"Military leaders felt that all resistance had become useless. They seemed to feel as though France had lost all her capacity, all means of resisting. Up to that time, there was an overwhelming majority of the government favoring resistance."

14 Die in U. S. Plane Crash Off Scotland

LONDON, July 27 (INS)—Fourteen persons were killed today in the crash of a U. S. Army transport plane in the Gulf of Syke off the Scottish coast.

Villagers said they saw the plane's tail and other parts suddenly break off. The ship, a Liberator, dived earthward and burst into flames aa it crashed. Would-be rescuers were unable to get near due to the intense heat.

Nine Destroyers Raid Tokyo Bay

By JAMES LINDSLEY

WITH U. S. THIRD FLEET OFF JAPAN, July 26 (Delayed) (AP)—Carrying the war closer to Emperor Hirohito's front porch than any surface craft have yet ventured, nine American destroyers entered Tokyo bay and released a salvo of 18 torpedoes and a blazing fusillade of gunfire at a Japanese merchant convoy Sunday night.

The sleek gray vessels then steamed out of Tokyo bay without a single casualty or a solitary scratch.

At least one and possibly two torpedoes found the mark, as evidenced by heavy explosions, Lt. Thaddeus R. Beal of Lakeville, Ct., said today.

The foray was made in waters believed heavily mined. It was a tricky bit of navigation for Lt. John Pinnero of Massachusetts.

Jap War Call Part Stowaway, GI Pal

Natale "Chris" Piavallo, the stowaway brought here by transport-returning soldiers, had a reunion with his favorite GI today at the Immigration Service offices, Tremont st., and cried a few tears for himself.

Chris' idol, PFC David Hughes, 23, of Franklin, N. J., did not come to adopt him. He came to say farewell for a while on account of pressing business in the Pacific theater.

"I want to go with you," wailed Chris.

"You couldn't go," explained Hughes, "but I'll be back and then we'll see if I can adopt you."

Chris assumed a worldy-wise attitude and said: "Yes, you'll be back. How many men come back?"

Hughes didn't have an answer to taht one. He told how the little boy happened to become his pal. The 9-year-old Italian boy had been in a German labor camp at Schwerin. The Russians liberated the prisoners there but Chris went on the loose in some manner or other. He had no parents, no relatives, no friends.

When American troops arrived, Hughes saw Chris embattled. "He was fighting 10 German kids, Hughes related, "but he had a stick and he was doing all right."

Hughes stopped the fight. Chris tagged him everywhere after that. Now the youngster is in the care of nuns until such time as the Immigration Service decides what his status shall be.

Hughes explained he couldn't adopt the boy now because he has no wife and his mother is too ill to take care of Chris until her son comes back from the Pacific.

Present at the reunion were two other soldiers. One was Hughes' brother, Charles, 21, a private in the Rangers, who had something in common with Chris. He spent 15 months in German prison camps after being captured at the Anzio beachhead.

Also there was PFC Nicholas DeAngelo of Dover st., who returned on the transport aboard which the soldiers smuggled Chris. The bond of their common ancestry has made them firm friends.

Hub Welcomes 10,000 Troops

A pretty Coast Guard SPAR and her soldier brother stole the show today as three transports, carrying nearly 10,000 men arrived in Boston to set a new record for debarkation of European war veterans in a single day at this port.

The Coast Guard-manned Navy transport, USS Wakefield, carrying 5546 passengers, was first to dock. While she was at Commonwealth Pier, the SS Explorer tied up at the Army Base with 2463 fighting men aboard.

Storekeeper 2c Lorraine Knarr, 22, member of the SPARS contingent on the Welcome Tug, drew the attention of the Explorer's passengers by broadcasting a greeting to "Stinky, my big brother."

She identified "Stinky" as Sgt. Floyd Knarr, 24, returning after service with the 96th Cavalry Reconnaissance Group.

Using the Army public address system, SPAR Knarr shouted:

"I want to welcome everybody in the 96th group, especially Stinky, my big brother. That's from a sister to a great big brother."

When the Explorer was berthed, the Army relented its ban on relatives greeting returning soldiers, allowing the tug to pull alongside for Knarr and his sister to arrange a meeting after he got ashore.

Lorraine climbed into the bow of the tiny tug and her brother leaned precariously over the Explorer's side during the public plan-making. Everyone aboard the two ships joined in offering suggestions to the happy pair.

Among prominent military persons returning on the Wakefield was Col. Henry S. Parkman, Jr., former Boston city corporation counsel and former state OPA administrator.

Parkman, who was chief of civil affairs for the 6th Army Group in France and Germany, said the Germans were "apathetic, subservient and extremely co-operative."

"There are no signs of resistance to Army rule now," he said. "However, it is too early to tell if we are making any progress in de-Nazifying the Germans because Goebbels did a terrific job with his propaganda."

Brig. Gen. Emil Lenzer of Washington, D. C., one of three generals aboard the Wakefield, said his Prussian birth roused a Heidelberg librarian to scream at him:

"The blood of your relatives is on your hands."

He said he was born in Prussia and came to this country as a child.

For the first time since veterans began the return from Europe, the Port of Boston Coast Guard band was at the dock to play stirring martial tunes.

The Wakefield passengers included 2042 patients and two civilians.

The SS Santa Maria, third transport to arrive, is scheduled to dock this afternoon. Aboard are Brig. Gen. Armistead Mead of Hendersonville, N. C., and a personnel list of 1987, the bulk of which are Air Force men.

Among the 15 units aboard the Santa Maria are an advance detachment of 85 personnel of the 9th Army headquarters, 23 casuals and seven critical score personnel.

Aboard the Wakefield were the following Greater Boston men:

PFC Chester M. Ross, 133 Cedar st., Roxbury; PFC Benjamin Marsh, 16 West View st., Dorchester; WO (J.G.) Arthur Southall, Jr., 22 Alpha rd., Dorchester; T5 James W. Sergeant Sticking to Wife Who Put Baby in Garbage

TACOMA, Wash., July 27 (AP) —Sgt. William Pelesky, whose wife is charged with placing her new-born baby girl in a garbage can 10 days after her husband returned from 37 months overseas prepared to return to the Pacific today but declared, "We will keep the baby."

"What else could I do?" added the sergeant.

He described himself as "just another guy living out the war" and one who "didn't come back a hero."

But two people at Pierce City Hospital disagreed. They were the blue-eyed, golden-haired Mrs. Pelesky who said, "Bill is going to stand by us," and Mrs. Genevieve Houston, superintendent of nurses who told Pelesky he was "A fine young man."

Mrs. Pelesky's bail was set at $5000 and her attorney said it had been arranged."

Percy Gregg, captain of detectives said Mrs. Pelesky related that she went to a bathroom and gave birth to the infant, wrapped it in newspapers and put it in a garbage can. It was found hours later by garbage collectors, and today was doing nicely at the hospital.

LOS ANGELES, July 27 (AP) —Superior Judge Alfred E. Paonessa put on a bow tie, assumed an out-of-this-world expression, and pondered this problem:

Is "Is You Is or Is You Ain't," a copy of "Is I Is or Is I Ain't"

Connie Bemis Glore, Hollywood song writer, says it is. She has sued Leeds Music Corp., the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, and Song Writers Billy Austin and Louis Jordan, claiming their popular song, "Is You Is, etc.," plagiarizes her song, "Is I Is, etc."

Defense attorneys played Crosby and Sinatra recordings of "Is You Is" for the judge yesterday. The lawyers handed the judge a bow tie and he put it on to get in the mood. Then, he listened to "Is I Is." "Well, is it?" asked one of the attorneys.

"It is—or it ain't," answered Judge Paonessa. "I'll let you know," he added, taking the case under advisement.

Miss Gore contends she wrote her song in 1941 in collaboration with David Ormont. She asks an accounting of royalties on the other song.

Lady Sparrow Wants to Be Canary's Mate in Gilt Cage

CHICAGO, July 27 (AP) — There's a strange feathered romance on at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Pederson.

Hans, her sleek, bright yellow canary in a gilded cage, and Gretel, a puffy little sparrow who has been out on a limb most of her life, are the principals.

Mrs. Pederson first noticed the coquettish sparrow making eyes at her canary out on the back porch Tuesday. At first she didn't like the little flirt and chased her away. But Gretel came back, clinging to the cage. Yesterday Mrs. Pederson opened the cage door, and the sparrow flew in.

Hans played hard to get but Gretel was persistent. She showed off something awful. She swung on the bars, ate Hans' lettuce and seed and, for shame! shared his bath.

Hans put up his guard when Gretel attempted to give him an occasional peck, but Mrs. Pederson is hopeful he'll fall for her.

"I'm going to let her stay in the cage for a couple of days to see if Hans gets a little more friendly," Mrs. Pederson said. "It would be a pity to break it up since she seems so devoted."

Back to the Army

NORTHAMPTON, July 27—

The first Northampton man to be discharged from the Army under the point system, S-Sgt. James P. Sullivan, 31, was back in uniform today as a private after he changed his mind about civilian life and reenlisted.

Sullivan, who enlisted the first time June 27, 1940, served for five years in the Pacific before his discharge last May. He holds several medals.

Rockland Gridder To Captain Brown

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 27 (INS) — Dr. Walter H. Snell, Brown University director of athletics, announced today that Roger D. Williams of Rockland, has been elected captain of the 1945 footbal team.

Williams, who formerly played for Wilbraham Academy, is a half back.

ADMITS SLAYING WIFE

BERLIN, Ct., July 27 (AP)— A woman's hand protruding from a mound of dirt near a quarry hole here led to the discovery of the body of Mrs. Lillian Grove, 32-year-old New Britain Negress, and subsequently to a confession by her husband he choked her to death.

Radio Traps El Holdup Quartet With Toy Pistol

Four North End youths, 17 to 21 years old, confessed in the police lineup today they had held up the El's Union station cashier with a toy pistol early this morning and fled with $127.

The young bandits said they had borrowed the toy, made of wood, from a North End child.

They were arrested shortly after the cashier, Charles M. Higgins, 25, of Palfrey st., Roslindale, telephoned police the registration number of an automobile in which they sped away.

The youth who admitted confronting Higgins with the wooden gun was a 19-year-old who said he had been discharged from the Navy for physical disability.

H and his companions said the car they used in the holdup was owned by a man they knew only as "Rus," who had been intoxicated and so asked them to take over his car.

When Higgins telephoned police the registration number, Michael Powers, police radio dispatcher, broadcast it to the cruiser cars.

Half an hour later Sgt. Charles Finnerty of Station 1 spotted the car in Atlantic ave. and gave chase in a cruiser. During the chase he kept up a two-way radio talk with headquarters, giving the route taken ov the fugitives.

Racing across the Charlestown bridge, the fugitives were halted by a blockade of three police cars, directed there by the police dispatcher. Two youths in the car, taken to Station 1, said they had dropped their two companions in the North End.

Later, police arrested the others and found the toy pistol.

Electronic Supply Ship Commissioned

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)— The 10,000-ton electronic supply ship USS Indian Island was put into commission today at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Brooklyn shipyard.

Although details of the ship's equipment may not be disclosed, the vessel will be used to repair and replace damaged radio, radar and electronic facilities of battle fleet units, it was announced.

60 Stricken, Hunt Plant Water Cooler Poisoner

NEW YORK, July 27—A methodical poisoner, using a water cooler into which he—or she—has been putting crystals of potassium thiocyanite since July 1, has disrupted production in a Brooklyn war plant by making a total of 60 women employes seriously ill, it was disclosed today as the FBI was called in to investigate.

The plant is an adjunct of the Super Electric Products Co., which has its main factory in Jersey City. It manufactures airplane parts.

The chemical used by the poisoner is commonly used in electroplating, but company officials said it was not used in any process of their manufacture. The 60 women made ill by absorbing it through drinks of water represent 70 per cent of the personnel.

Harry Daniels, vice-president of the company, said that after an increasing number of employes remained at home because of illness he noticed they reported the same symptons, abdominal pains and vomiting.

Daniels had a chemist analyze the water. The chemist found it contained poison.

Wednesday morning a total of 18 employes did not report for work. In addition, others stricken previously were at home. The some morning an employe found a bottle labeled "poison" near the cooler.

Daniels asked police assistance. Police chemists took the water cooler and identified the poison. Asst. Dist. Atty. Louis Aldino said the only reason there weren't 60 deaths instead of 60 illnesses was that the volume of the water was sufficient to dilute the poison to sickness potentialities.

The location of the water cooler in the plant was such that no one could have tampered with it without drawing notice from surrounding employes, a company official said. He theorized the poisoner dropped the chemical in at night.

Boxer, 23, Admits Beating Woman, 70

A 23-year-old amateur boxer of New Bedford, held as a suspect in connection with the beating of Miss Lila I. Cheever, 81, Chandler st., South End, lodging house keeper, was to be charged with assault with intent to kill in Central Municipal Court today, according to Capt. Louis Di Sessa of the Warren ave. station.

Picked up on suspicion after he was found changing a blood-stained shirt tor a clean one in a parking lot, the youth is alleged by police to have confessed to the assault.

According to police, the boxer took a room at Miss Cheever's with the intention of robbing her after he heard that she often had large sums of money about. He had been drinking at the time, police said.

He was apprehended when a parking lot attendant saw him changing his shirt and getting out of a car owned by a regular parking customer. A revolver was found in the youth's possession, and he was said to have stolen it from a door pocket in the car.

Miss Cheever remains on the danger list at City Hospital. Injuries to her eyes, received in the beating, prevented her from identifying her assailant as yet, according to police.

Land, Sea Search for Judy Continues, Now in 11th Day

State troopers, local police and Coast Guardmen continued their search today for the body of Judy Geagan, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Geagan of Medford, who disappeared from her parents' summer cottage at Marshfield 11 days ago.

Searching among rocks offshore, in the belief the body may be wedged in a crevice, men in a surf boat were using grappling equipment.

A Coast Guard jeep is patrolling an 8-mile stretch of beach from Fourth Cliff to Brant Rock, on the theory that bodies usually float after seven days in the water and that Judy's body may be washed ashore with any tide. CBM Daniel Dewey is directing 24-hour-a-day patrol.

Acting Police Chief Clifford Vallier has declared the search will continue relentlessly.

The amphibious "duck," which had been laid up for a day for repairs, resumed its search farther out to sea.

U. S. to Take Over Captive Nazi Sub

BUENOS AIRES, July 27 (AP)—Foreign Minister Cesar Ameghino said four United States naval planes are due her tomorrow to take to North America the officers and crewmen of a German submarine, the U-530, which put into Mar del Plata July 10.

He added that the fliers would take with them "documents sequestered from the submarine by Argentine authorities" and that a United States crew would take over the U-boat.

R-2 Tire Certificates Invalidated Aug. 15

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—All R-2 tire pirchase certificates, which local boards discontinued issuing June 5, will be invalidated Aug. 15, the OPA announced. They may be used until that date.

Plan to Streamline Congress Hits Snag

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Members of a joint committee studying plans to streamline Congress reported disagreement today on proposals to raise congressional saiaries and pension the lawmakers.

They also disclosed that the committee of Senators and Representatives set up last January to work out a reorganization plan has been unable to agree on consolidation of committees with overlapping functions.

POPE TO STAY IN VATICAN

VATICAN CITY, July 27 (AP)—Pope Pius XII this year again will forego a rest at the Pontifical summer home, Castel Gandolfo, because of pressure of work, Vatican circles said.

Ratification Of Charter Seen Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Senate ratification of the United Nations charter by tomorrow night—if all goes well—was foreseen today by Sen. Tom Connally (D.) of Texas.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman, who also served on the American delegation to the San Francisco Conference, observed with satisfaction that only 13 more senators are listed for speeches. Many will be brief, Connally predicted to reporters.

Only when the debate closes will Connally be able, under the rules, to call up the formal ratification resolution. Even then a single objection could hold off its consideration another legislative day. Connally, however, expects no delay from that contingency.

The fourth day of debate yesterday lacked the fire of some of the previous sessions. Senator after senator went on record for the international peace preserving plan, but the chamber's attention inevitably strayed to the news from Potsdam of the American-Sino-British ultimatum for Japan's immediate capitulation.

Sen. Wherry (R.) of Nebraska, observed that the ultimatum "ought to be a boon toward passage of this charter."

Significant of the changed sentiment of the Senate in 25 years, Sen. Capper (R.) of Kansas, who voted against the League of Nations a generation ago, announced his support for the new charter and expressed the opinion it would work.

Mother's Effort Fails to Save Son

WORCESTER, July 27 — A mother's valiant work in keeping her son's head above water until help could arrive failed to save the life of Walter Lees, 32, of East Lake st., who was pronounced dead by Dr. Julius Dambroski, police surgeon, of drowning caused by a heart attack.

Lees, bathing in Lake Quinsigamond, was only five feet from shore when stricken. His mother, Mrs. Anne Anderson, ran to his aid.

Artificial respiration, applied for more than an hour, failed to revive him.

OPA Tricked, PWs Get Rationed Shoes

Italian soldiers held at Camp Myles Standish have been able to buy 200 pairs of rationed shoes—without the formality of giving stamps—due to devices employed by a stationary fireman employed there, OPA revealed today.

OPA identified the fireman as Raoul J. Goulet of High st., Taunton, and stated he registered with the agency in January as a shoe dealer, obtaining ration currency so he might buy shoes from a supplier.

Goulet has been suspended as a shoe dealer for the duration, OPA announced.

It revealed his activities had been brought to light by a sharp-eyed and indignant GI, who couldn't see why Italian prisoners should be more easily shod than the folks at home.

The GI took his squawk to the provost marshal and the shoe-dealing fireman was uncovered, said OPA.

Jews Ask British Victors To Open Palestine at Once

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 27—The new British Labor government was called upon by the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation to repudiate the policy of its predecessor and immediately open the gates of Palestine for the immigration of the surviving Jews of Europe.

In a telegram to Prime Minister Clement C. Attlee, leader of the victorious Labor party, Peter H. Bergson, chairman of the committee, suggested that a new British policy be promulgated to end the unbearable plight of the two million surviving Hebrews of Europe.

Bergson requested that Attlee proclaim the rights of every surviving Hebrew in Europe to apply to the nearest British consulate and receive first papers of Palestinian citizenship with machinery set up to transfer them to Palestine.

"Thus your party and nation will play a decisive role in restoring to life and dignity an ancient and martyred people and bring to an end the injustices committed against them," Bergson added.

The Hebrew committee maintains that the regulations enforced by the previous British governments limiting Jewish immigration to Palestine violated the mandate of the league of nations.

Ration Points Up On Six Foods

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP) —Housewives, whose point worries have been chiefly red, got blue news today about the blues.

Beginning Sunday, six canned and bottled foods take on sharply increased ration values.

The increases, effective through the five-week period ending Sept. 1, apply to canned spinach, asparagus, applesauce, apples, apricots and grape juice.

However, grapefruit juice, orange and grapefruit blends, tomato catsup and chili sauce will require fewer points.

Here are the increases:

Spinach, No. 2 can, 30 points, up 10; No. 2½ can, 50 points, up 30; asparagus, No. 2 can, 40 points, up 10; applesauce, No. 2 can, 20 points, up 10; apples, No. 2 can, 20 points, up 10; apricots, No. 2½ can, 50 points, up 30; grape juice, pint, 40 points, up 10; grape juice quart, 70 points, up 40.

The decreases:

Orange and grapefruit juice blends, 46-ounce can, 10 points, down 10; No. 2 can, 10 points for two cans, down 10; grapefruit juice, 46-ounce can, 10 points, down 10; No. 2 can, 10 points for two cans, down 10; tomato catsup and chili sauce, 14-ounce size, 10 points, down 10

U. S. Casualties Up 5741 in Week

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP) —American casualties of the war now total 1,058,842, a gain of 5741 over last week's report.

The Navy's share of the increase was 2963, and the Army's 1778. Respective totals for the two services were 138,622 and 920,220.

A breakdown showed the following casualties for the two services, by categories, and the comparative figures for a week ago:

Army — Killed, 196,918 and 194,447; wounded, 569,696 and 568,976; missing, 35,708 and 36,303; prisoners, 117,898 and 117,716.

Navy—Killed, 51,219 and 50,363; wounded, 72,066 and 70,072; missing, 11,578 and 11,431; prisoners, 3759 and 3793.

Phone Operators Call Off Strike

More than 200 long distance operators of the American Telephone Co. have decided to call off the strike scheduled for Aug. 2, following a WLB promise of quick action on their demand for a $4 per week increase.

The strike action had been voted last month to force WLB approval of pay increases agreed upon with the company which have been pending for two years.

The increases would bring wages to the level of local New England Co. operators.

Devers Denies Tale Of Stuttgart Orgy

By KENT HUNTER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 27—Gen. Jacob L. Devers flatly denied that French Negro troops committed mass rape on German women when Stuttgart was captured. Gen. Devers denied that he had told Sen. James Oliver Eastland of Mississippi that he knew of such an occurrence.

Gen. Devers said that to the best of his knowledge there were no more than four Senegalese troops in Stuttgart at the time mentioned — in late April — but that the Third Division Infanterie Algerie (Moroccan) was there and that several thousand Arab Goums were in the French forces taking the town.

Gen. Devers said that on April 21 and April 22, there was looting, and perhaps instances of rape, but expressed a belief that 50,000 French refugees and slave laborers among the 250,000 French civilians released from German control by the capture of Stuttgart were more probably responsible for the chaotic condition than the French African troops were.

Gen. Devers said that French military controls tried 12 French soldiers on charges of rape, found them guilty and executed them before a firing squad.

Finally Gen. Devers declared:

"If there was a command fault, that fault and responsibility is mine. I was in command of the 6th U. S. Army Group, consisting of the 7th American Army under Gen. Patch and the First French Army under Gen. Guillaume.

"As to conduct of the French troops in battle, I want to say here and now that I know of no finer fighting men than the Goums and the Moroccans.

"If I again faced the problem of fighting Germany's crack troops in a hilly country, I'd say 'give me more Goums.' They come from the Atlas mountains and there are no better mountain troops."

12,000 Errors In Food Report

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is out to determine the actual worth of the department's $4,750,000,000 Commodity Credit Corporation and how much food and farm products it owns.

Anderson said there were more than 12,000 discrepancies in bookkeeping items between the general accounting office report as of April 30 and the CCC balance sheet.

The CCC is the banking agency of the Agriculture Department.

Crime in Upswing, FBI Report Shows

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The FBI today reported an 8.4 per cent upswing in crime from January to July over the same period last year.

An FBI survey based on statistics from 392 cities or more than 25,000 population showed:

A 4.3 per cent increase in murder and non-negligent homicide, 9 per cent in rape, 10 per cent in robbery, 11.3 per cent in aggravated assault, 12.1 per cent in burglary, 7.9 per cent in larceny and 4.6 per cent in automobile theft. Negligent manslaughter declined 1.6 per cent.

Probe Housing At Deer Island

The city council committee on prisons, following an inspection trip to Deer Island, is investigating why State Commr. of Correction J. Paul Doyle, former master of the house of correction, occupies a cottage there with his family while his successor, Maj. George F. A. Mulcahy, is living in Winthrop.

The committee announced today that it will also question Penal Institutions Commr. Joseph P. Donahoe to find out why it is necessary for him to use a 14-room house on the island as an office building when it could be turned over to Mulcahy as a residence.

Mayor Kerrigan said he had given permission to Doyle to live on the island until such time as he can find another home for himself, his wife and three children. The mayor said that Doyle was paying $50 rent a month for a 5-room cottage.

Funeral services for John Gorham Palfrey, 69, of Ivy st., Brookline, were scheduled in King's Chapel at 2 p. m. today.

Mr. Palfrey, partner in the law firm of Warner, Stackpole, Stetson and Bradlee, died Wednesday night after returning home from his office.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Methyl Palfrey, a daughter, Mrs. T. Elwood Cooke of Pensacola, Fla., the former Sarah Palfrey, the tennis star, four other daughters, Mrs. Charles Woodrow of Schenectady, N. Y., Mrs. Harold W. Fullerton of Aberdeen, Scotland, Mrs. Franklin Dexter of Cambridge and Mrs. Rodney W. Brown, Jr., of Canton, and a son, Lt. John G. Palfrey, Jr., of New York, now in the Army.

Heavy-Lidded 12 Can Sleep Tonight

PASADENA, Cal., July 27 (AP) —Eyelids drooped at half-staff as a dozen slumberless human guinea pigs stumbled down the home stretch today in California Institute of Technology's experiment in fatigue whichends at 10 o'clock tonight.

The 12 volunteer subjects, drawn from a conscientious objectors' camp at Glendora, were resorting to everything short of hootfoots to finish their 112 hours. Nudging, poking and tickling became standard procedure.

It's all for science and the benefit of the armed forces. Caltech observers have been filling notebooks since 5:45 a. m. Monday, when the study started.

The droopy dozen have had to stay on their feet 20 hours out of every 24, but there isn't a blister in the bunch and they're all gaining weight. The volunteers range in age from 19 to 33 years.

Labor Landslide Surprises Even Happy Victors

John F. Kennedy, one-time Navy lieutenant in command of a P-T boat, is the son of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

By JOHN F. KENNEDY

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

LONDON, July 27 — England has been hit by some block-busters in the last five years, but none of them ever shook her like the election results. As the Labor majority piled up, even the most optimistic Laborites were stunned by the extent of their victory.

For the first time in Labor's history, Labor holds a clear majority in the House of Commons.

Explanations for the crushing tory defeat are already forthcoming and they will be pouring in for the next few weeks.

Prof. Laski himself told me he had only anticipated a Labor majority of 50 seats.

Looking back over the campaign, I think that the Socialist victory is due chiefly to two factors.

First, the general feeling that after 10 years of Conservative government, it was "time for a change."

Second and most important is the fact that living conditions in England have always been difficult for the working man.

Long ago, Disraeli wrote of two nations in England, rich and poor, and in the last five years things have been particularly difficult.

Enemy bombings, high prices and being forced to stand in long queues have taken their toll of the people's tempers and patience.

The Socialist party took full advantage of this opportunity and their party literature accentuated the class struggle.

The Socialists promised that "things will be better for the working man," and to the Socialist party just about everyone is a working man.

Churchill, on the other hand, took the same line in this campaign that had been so successful in 1940.

He offered them nothing but "toil and sweat" and said that the Conservative party would make no glib promises that it could not keep.

Unfortunately for the Conservatives, the people of this island have been on a diet of toil and sweat for the past five years.

The British people will take that diet in an emergency but they feel that the emergency has passed.

Strike Fever Spreads in N. E. War Industries

The strike fever was spreading in New England today as hundreds of war workers quit their jobs, threatening to enforce idleness on thousands more and halting essential war orders.

At the same time, 11,150 employes of nine New Bedford textile mills were voting in the election of a bargaining agent.

In a walkout described by the union officials as unauthorized, 625 welders at the shipbuilding yards of the Bath Iron Works Corp., Bath, Me., left their jobs in a dispute over wages, and presented six demands to the management.

Thatcher B. Pinkham, corporation president, said the demands included two already in process of negotiation.

The welders, members of the Independent Brotherhood of Shipyard Workers, claimed the company misinterpreted the procedure for paying bonuses for welding on galvanized iron and in confined spaces. The other demands were for pay increases.

In Worcester, more than 400 workers at the Leland-Gifford Mfg. Co. plant struck in protest against the company's refusal to rehire 26 workers previously discharged and failure to make a wage scale available to union officials.

Thomas J. Fox, local president of the Steel Workers Union, said the workers had voted unanimously to strike at a previous meeting. He declared the union membership was protesting the company's failure to obey a WLB directive.

In New Bedford, approximately 11,150 workers in nine mills of the Cotton Manufacturers' Ass'n were balloting on the choice of a union, with 16 NLRB agents scheduled to visit each mill this afternoon.

Gold Star Theft Suspect in Court

WORCESTER, July 27—Robert K. Birch, 40, faced arraignment in district court today charged with larceny from widows and mothers of servicemen killed overseas.

Police said his procedure was to call on a mother whose son's name had appeared as dead in the casualty lists and announce that he had a last message given him for the boy's family. He then would tell a hard luck story and try to borrow money.

Birch was apprehended after he tried the trick on Mrs. Leah Quackenbush of Russell st., posing as a business acquaintance of her husband who had died recently. Quackenbush was not a serviceman and the widow notified police.

Yanks in Berlin Healthier Than Boys Back Home

By EDWARD D. BALL

BERLIN, July 27 (AP)—U. S. Army medics declared today the 25,000 U. S. troops quartered here for the past three weeks are enjoying better health than those back home.

Col. J. G. Knauer, chief surgeon of the First Airborne Army said venereal disease rates, climbed sharply during the second week but showed a decline the third week. He reported no typhoid, smallpox or typhus among the Americans.

Berlin's civilian population shows only one disease of epidemic proportions—vascillary dysentery.

Berlin is plagued by swarms of flies attracted by broken sewers and unburied dead beneath the debris. Mosquitoes also are plentiful, but are not malaria carriers.

The Army is flying in insecticides and mosquito netting.

Sheriff Says Wife Death Accident

HAVERHILL, July 27—After questioning Anthony Moskal, 24, Sheriff Simes Frank of Rockingham County, N. H., announced today he is convinced the drowning of Moskal's wife, Julie, 21, in a Salem, N. H., pond Saturday, was accidental. Other officials declined to discuss the case.

Ignoring Wounded Assailed by Legion

Special to the Boston Evening American

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 27—Greater consideration on the part of the public for wounded war veterans was asked in a resolution adopted by the National Executive Committee of the American Legion here today. Text of the resolution:

"Whereas, there is appearing upon the public streets of the American cities, in public conveyances, and in other places of public congregation throughout the nation, an ever-increasing number of badly disabled servicemen, still in uniform as well as recently discharged disabled veterans, and,

"Whereas, it has been observed inconsiderate attention on the part of a thoughtless public, to wit:

"The thoughtless crowding of servicemen and veterans with leg injuries upon the streets;

"The thoughtless and inconsiderate attention to obviously disabled servicemen and disabled veterans compelled to stand in public conveyances, such as street cars, buses and railroad transportation and,

"Whereas, such thoughtlessness and inconsiderate treatment unquestionably brings added discomfort to disabled men and veterans and in addition is rather poor consideration for the service rendered to the nation by these servicemen and veterans, now, therefore be it

"Resolved by the National Executive Committee in meeting assembled this 26th day of July, 1945, in Indianapolis, Ind., that we call upon the civilian population of our country to be ever mindful of the presence of these disabledservice men and veterans among us; that we render to them every assistance and consideration possible in their misfortune; that we call upon our National Rehabilitation Committee through every agency at their disposal, to take steps to invite public attention to this fact and to seek the support of our entire service organization throughout our departments and posts to initiate suitable programs to bring this unfortunate thoughtlessness to the attention of the public and to encourage wherever possible the proper consideration and preferential treatment of obviously disabled service men and veterans in public places

Sugar and victory

V-E Day has passed. But V-J Day is still ahead. The need for sugar . . . that indispensable energy food . . . continues to be in heavy demand.

At the direction of the Government supplies are moving at an increased rate to our armed forces, our allies, and to help in feeding people in liberated lands.

Due to a prolonged drought in Cuba, stocks of raw cane sugar from the Caribbean area, which serves our Atlantic Coast and Gulf refineries, are off greatly in volume.

These are some of the reasons why our Government has placed tighter rationing restrictions on household and on institutional and industrial users of refined sugar.

We have learned to accept wartime shortages all along the line. Use your sugar stamps, but use them wisely . . . and make a little do a lot.

Shangri-La Diary

By CPL. MARGARET HASTINGS, WAC

(Written Exclusively for International News Special Service (World Copyright and All Rights Reserved)

OWEGO, N. Y., July 27 (INS)—Nothing before or after the torturous descent into the valley ever had quite its nightmare quality. I still wake up in the middle of the night, covered with perspiration, having dreamed that I am inching my way down a green precipice.

It was now Tuesday, and we had had nothing to eat since Sunday noon except a few pieces of hard candy and a few sips of water. But, strangely enough, none of us felt any hunger!

My legs were stiff and I had trouble walking when we first started out. Sgt. Decker was badly hurt and the journey must have been hideous for him. But he never complained.

I realize now that even McCollom, our tower of strength, must have begun to feel the strain. But he was an iron man. As we hit the gully and started down the mountain, no one would ever have dreamed that his twin brother lay behind in the plane's charred wreckage.

LT. JOHN McCOLLOM
"Our Tower of Strength"

When we stumbled into the gully, hidden by the jungle, we stumbled into life itself.

It is foolish to think that we could have cut our way out of that dense, clinging jungle with a pocket knife, our only weapon. The gully promised two things: A foothold in the jungle, precarious though it was, and eventual water.

I had no time to enjoy the giant eucalyptus trees, or count the varieties of scrub oak, banyans and palms, or try to catalogue the vines, or distinguish between the kinds of ferns, brush and cruel undergrowth.

Everything in the jungle had tentacles, and I was too busy fighting them to enjoy nature. We had to watch every footstep. The gully was narrow. The jungle met overhead. Only occasionally could the sun get through. We had to be on our guard against strange undergrowth whose big leaves were edged with saw-teeth as strong as any shark's.

DEATH HAD claimed two survivors from a plane crash high in the New Guinea mountains as two of the three WACs who escaped, succumbed within the first 24 hours. Margaret Hastings was left alone with Lt. John McCollom and Sgt. Kenneth Decker, and torturously they began their way down the jungle mountainside into Hidden Valley where, if they were spared by natives and nature, they hoped to signal an Army search plane.

McCollom went ahead. I was in the middle and Decker brought up the rear. Everything in the jungle reached out to claw at us.

My hair hung more than half-way to my waist. Back at Fee-Ask I had usually worn it in a neat figure-eight. The morning we started down the trail, I tried to bind tightly around my head what hair had not been burned off in the crash.

But the jungle tore at it and clung to it, and the men were always having to untangle me. Finally I said, in desperation:

"Please, McCollom, hack it off!"

McCollom got out his pocket knife and set to work. The result was a rather sad three-inch "feather" bob.

When he had finished, we started on, but the three inches of hair were just as hampering as the whole long mop had been. The jungle still wrapped itself in my hair and slowed up our already snail-like pace.

"For goodness sake, McCollom, I've got to get rid of this hair," I finally cried. "Give me a brush cut!"

He finally cut off all but an inch and a half of hair.

It was hard going, down the gully. It was very steep and our footing was always precarious. There were loose stones in our way and big boulders, and we had to climb over innumerable fallen logs.

But an hour after we hit the dry gully a trickle of water appeared.

Our spirits soared, now that we knew water was ahead. Decker and I determined to drink all we could hold, once the water deepened so we could scoop it up. McCollom frowned and Decker and I frowned right back.

We said the hell with Army sanitation standards! We were going to drink that water even if it had a million-billion germs.

Before long we were wading in water over our shoe-tops. It was difficult going. I had to stop to rest every 30 minutes.

Little tributaries began to pour water into our stream, and before long we were trying to keep our footing in a swift mountain torrent that seemed to leap straight down the mountainside. It was laced with waterfalls two to 12 feet high, and we were always trying to let ourselves down to safety.

Often we crept over these waterfalls on old logs that had fallen into the stream. One end would rest against the top of the falls and the other would be lodged at the bottom.

When the stream was very steep, we would often sit down, too, and edge along on our hands and our bottoms. When we finally reached the valley we figured we had come a third of the way sitting.

When the waterfalls were too high to jump without risk of breaking our legs, and when there were no convenient fallen logs, McCollom would let himself down, hand-over-hand. I would follow until I could put my feet on his shoulders and he would lift me down the rest of the way. Then he'd help Decker.

Once we came to a 12-foot wall. There were no logs to help us, and the face was too steep to attempt a climb.

While Decker and I rested, McCollom tried to find a way around it through the jungle. But he came back defeated.

McCollom reached up and grabbed one of the strangling, rope-like vines that are all over the jungle like a spider's web. He tested it with his weight. Then he swung out and over the waterfall and let himself down where the little stream ran shallow below the falls.

"Come on, Maggie!" he ordered. And before I could think, I had grabbed the vine. I swung dizzily into space. Then I let myself down and McCollom grabbed me.

Next it was Decker's turn. Decker dropped into the water beside us. He grinned at us and drawled in his dry, western way:

"Damned if I ever thought I'd understudy Johnny Weissmuller!"

That was the first time any of us had thought of Tarzan. All we had thought of was necessity.

By midday we were exhausted, our bodies numb with cold and sore and battered. The tears did not spill over, but I could not keep them out of my eyes. I hurt all over.

We could hear the search planes overhead but we knew they would never see us in the stream, roofed over by jungle. Every time we heard the planes, McCollom worked the signal mirror furiously, but we knew it was hopeless.

But that didn't make us downhearted. As long as the planes were looking for us, we knew everything would be all right.

We had meant to stop for the night by 2 p. m., when the mist and the rains usually blanketed the mountain.

But we didn't stop for a very simple reason. We couldn't find a spot or a break in the jungle edging the stream large enough for three exhausted bodies to stretch out.

Eventually, we found a tiny spot. So we sat down, ate a few more hard candies and turned in.

The two big tarps in which our supplies were wrapped were still dry. McCollom put one under us and one over us. Then he sternly ordered us to get under the tarp and try to warm up.

It was a fine idea, except for one thing—the slope of the terrain. We would doze off fitfully through the night, only to wake up and find ourselves back in the icy stream. Then we would have to haul ourselves and the tarps out and start all over again.

This was a long night, too.

Happy Summer School Children Learn New Arts—While Sugar, the school mascot stands guard, these children, pupils at the Animal Rescue League Kiddies Summer School, Carver st., Back Bay, weave shawls on the school looms. The children are (l. to r.) Constance Ann and Catherine Helen Baker, Barbara Rosenthal and Joan Hendsbee. The children learn many different arts at the school sessions, beginning each day with a program of old folk songs.

THE PACIFIC ISLANDS

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S extemporaneous speech at the flag-raising ceremony in Berlin, in which he renounced all territorial aspirations by the United States, occasioned considerable uneasiness in American military and diplomatic circles—and not without warrant.

If the President had confined his expression—as he quite probably intended—to the assertion that there is nothing "of a monetary nature that we want out of this war," he would have been well within the acknowledged and universally understood wartime purposes of the United States.

The American nation certainly has no expectation or aspiration for monetary gain from the present war, or for territorial or any other form of aggrandizement in the normal sense.

But when the President also said—inadvertently, it is to be hoped—that "there is not one piece of territory" the United States intends to acquire and retain in consequence of the war, he was widely astray from the facts.

The United States surely and fully intends to retain complete and permanent control and possession of the strategic Pacific islands which are being wrested from the Japanese at great American military effort and cost.

THESE VITAL ISLANDS ARE BEING PAINFULLY AND TRAGICALLY BOUGHT WITH AMERICAN BLOOD AS WELL AS WITH AMERICAN RESOURCES AND INGENUITY.

In the hands of the Japanese, they were the principal instruments turned against the American nation for its intended destruction.

They made this war POSSIBLE.

Because of them it is a LONG war.

They are largely responsible for the great wealth we are expending in the Pacific War, as the condition and price of winning it.

They are responsible for the excessive and stunning human casualties we are expending for the same purpose.

Our thousands of dead and wounded on the beaches and in the jungle depths of those islands are charged to their account.

The tears and anguish of the loved ones of our American dead and wounded are charged to the same account.

These Pacific islands must never AGAIN be in the hands of the Japanese.

They must never again be in the hands of ANY possible enemy of the United States.

THEY HAVE BEEN DAGGERS POINTED AT THE HEART OF THE UNITED STATES, MENACING THE SECURITY AND LIVES OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Let them be sheathed FOREVER in the scabbard of permanent American POSSESSION.

Let the only flag over them be the AMERICAN flag.

Let the formidable and impregnable military and naval and aviation bases for which they are so strategically situated be constructed—but let them be AMERICAN bases.

Then, and ONLY then will the American people have achieved the peace and security for which they are now fighting.

GOOD EXAMPLE

THE OPENING of forty new playgrounds in Boston, each properly supervised, reflects great credit on Mayor Kerrigan and the council members who are supporting his recreational program.

Not only will the playgrounds keep children off streets and out of danger, but they are bound to prove a powerfully effective antidote for juvenile delinquency.

Fathers and mothers should take a personal interest in the various activities and encourage their little sons and daughters to enjoy them fully, for this is truly a civic project in which all the people and especially parents must share the responsibilities as well as the benfits.

It is not too late for other Massachusetts and New England communities to profit by Mayor Kerrigan's good example and establish playgrounds of their own.

Some day you will be home again,
Home to stay.
To dissolve all the heartaches
I have known
Since you went away.
In my arms again, in our home again,
Forever is too short to stay,
And we will double all the love
And fun we missed
Since you went away.

WHERE is Mildred Bailey? And what became of Al Rinicker? A recommendation from Mildred afforded Bing Crosby his start in the entertainment world. Rinicker was Bing's first partner. Miss Bailey, singing at a night club called the Tent in Los Angeles, told Mike Lyman, operator of the spot: "There are a couple of kids up in Spokane who have something." On Mildred's recommendation, Mike sent for the kids, Bing Crosby and Al Rincker. They made good from the start. From the Tent they went into a Fanchon & Marco revue. After that, Bing joined Harry Carroll's revue at the Orange Grove Theater and later became one of three "Rhythm Boys" of Paul Whiteman's band.

PLEASE NOTE: A dispatch says a baseball game was called at the end of the eighth inning to permit the Brooklyn Dodgers to catch a train for St. Louis. Usually about 32 people travel with a major league baseball club. Sometimes more. Thirty-two persons take up a lot of railroad space. With group traveling frowned upon and ruled against, some people may be inclined to view the special privileges accorded baseball clubs with righteous bitterness. There are a lot of ball clubs traveling. How many seats do these organizations use daily? How much space do they take from the men of our armed forces?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Did Marie Tempest ever appear in a moving picture? How long was her stage career? How many times was she married? A—Marie appeared in several films, the last being with Paderewski in "Moonlight Sonata." Had a stage career of over 50 years. Married three times. Was 73 when married for third time. Q—What do your Horses & Women and Mules & Men experts think about the claim of a Chicago judge that the majority of divorces are caused by the use of twin beds? A—Our experts are not in accord with the jurist you mention. A marriage that can fail because of twin beds must be on a very flimsy foundation. However, it is not a bad idea to put the twin beds together and have a small table on side of each bed instead of one in the center. Also, when the husband is a big boy for his size and the wife a cute little trick, why should their beds be twins? The husband should have a large bed and the little lady a little bed.

MULES & MEN: "There is no such thing as a dangerous woman. Just susceptible men." Such is the observation of a feminine contemporary. If men are so susceptible as alleged, why do women have to go to such extremes to attract male interest. Why do the females have to wear such provocative attire and use such powerful perfumes? This would seem to indicate that rather than being susceptible, the modern man is a little hard to get and is in fact inclined to be a little cynical and suspicious regarding women.

★ ★ ★

AMBIDEXTROUS: A statistician states 93 per cent of United States population is right-handed, 4 per cent are southpaws and 3 per cent ambidextrous. If there are as many ambidextrous people as that, why is it there are not more baseball pitchers throwing with both hands? Would seem a twirler who switched from right hand to left hand throwing unexpectedly might be quite a menace.

★ ★ ★

HORSES & WOMEN: Observed Harry Furniss: "Men admire in dress precisely what they admire in a woman's character—simplicity, grace and femininity." Furniss also said: "Some women dress to please other women, some to attract men, some to please themselves. Those who dress to please themselves best succeed in pleasing both men and women." (Note—These observations are from our Horses & Women file, No. 3984.)

BRIEFLY: Saw Lt. Charles Farrell, former film star, the other day. Remember him in "Seventh Heaven" with Janet Gaynor? Lt. Farrell has seen considerable action in the Pacific. He is still happily married to Virginia Valli. Haven't forgotten Virginia how you? . . . The Marine Woman's Reserve has its own M. P. force. I have never seen a feminine M. P. Particularly interesting would be the spectacle of a determined feminine Marine M. P. arresting a couple of mischievous lady leathernecks. Or do the feminine Marines ever get so wild that they have to be locked up?

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, July 27—This country will be spared a degree of scandal and a lot of money if we take a refresher course in the larcenies committed soon after the last war by malingerers in the guise of compensation for imaginary wounds and fictitious or exaggerated disabilities.

Westbrook Pegler

These operations in most cases were done by the connivance of doctors and bureaucrats in the government service and the congressional investigation turned up some ingenious rogueries.

The scale of disability and allowances was mathematical. The principle was acknowledged at the beginning that compensation was deserved only for impairments suffered in the line of duty.

Sprains, cauliflower ears, sore throats and rum-blossoms occurring in hours of misconduct while the victim was AWOL in Paris or East St. Louis were deemed to be the patient's own private affair and not a lien on the public treasury.

★ ★ ★

IN TIME, however, the lobbies stretched the regulations to an extent that permitted a middle-aged veteran of the Spanish affair of '98 who had a $5000 job and a pension beside, and was able to pay for his own repairs, to go into a Veterans' hospital to have his tripes remodeled free.

This sort of competition naturally displeased many civilian doctors whose taxes were supporting these institutions and many of whom, themselves, had served in combat in France; whereas many of the patients had served in camp at home only long enough to qualify under the minimum legal definitions.

★ ★ ★

SLIGHTEST MENTION of such impositions of course will envoke the charge that one who would deny heroes healing and care can be no better than a Japanese sergeant but that, as will be seen, is obfuscation.

The malingerer and chiseler will always hide behind the deserving victims of wounds, injuries or illness and protest that any objection to his own impositions on public sympathy is a brutal attempt to neglect and discard the deserving.

Nevertheless, records are available in Washington which will recall outrageous graft by men who were sound of mind and wind and limb whose benefits were paid in part by more honest and patriotic veterans who came home whole and were glad to support their government rather than live on it.

They are there in detail and they reveal a systematic method of grafting and a progressive corruption of the original plan. In time men who would have refused to take advantage of a parasitic system felt obliged to get theirs as an act of self-defense.

★ ★ ★

WE DO NOT yet know what the benefits for veterans will be. Because so large a portion of the adult population will be veterans we may be sure they will be large in figures, at least, and that no bonus march or camp will be necessary this time.

What they want and what they believe the Treasury and the national income can stand they will vote themselves and the one great moderating influence will be the understanding by the more intelligent that they will be paying the taxes to support these grants to themselves as long as they live.

Nevertheless, these service veterans, on the average, will have served much longer than those of the first war and undoubtedly will feel that the country—the "government"—ought to make up to them, as well as money and preference can, the time they lost when they might have been starting their civil careers and founding families and homes.

There is a difference, though, between pensions, grants and other benefits frankly awarded as such to sound men in recognition of service, and the cunning impositions on a system designed to meet the special needs of men impaired in the line of duty.

The wounded and injured will deserve all the benefits available to sound veterans plus compensation for degrees of infirmity and that is where the faker begins to discover cricks in his back, miseries in his joints or a cigaret cough which, when he finally puts his mind to it real hard, are traceable to the time he hefted a case of canned goods, stumbled over a wagon tongue in the dark or inhaled gas, thinking nothing of it at the time, long, long ago.

Every soldier knows the types but, unfortunately, so does every candidate for office and the record of old investigation just might act as a policeman's whistle blown in anticipation of a raid.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 27—"Berkeley Square," the well-remembered John Balderston play, is due for a remake at 20th. Looking back over the movie file of yesterday's hits, Darryl Zanuck came upon the play, which was made with the late Leslie Howard in 1933.

Quicker than a wink, Darryl had the machinery going. He handed the Howard part to Gregory Peck, who has the same sensitive appeal, and the girls' roles to Maureen O'Hara and Jeanne Crain.

Maureen O'Hara

Darryl said, in discussing "Berkeley Square" with Joseph Mankiewicz, who is writing and directing it, that it should be modernized and that's what Joe is doing. "Berkeley Square" had a long run on the stage and, as I remember it, it took place in England. It was a terrific love story with flash-backs to yesterday's happenings in the same house of the same family.

NOW I'VE HEARD everything! Nelson Eddy is going to play Willie, the Whale. Honest he is! But wait till I tell you: He is doing it for Walt Disney in "Make Mine Music." Nelson is the "ghost voice" of the whale that yearned to sing at the Metropolitan. In addition, he sings the vocal parts for 100 other whales in the finale from "Martha." Sounds a little complicated but I am told that a process has just been perfected, whereby the popular baritone will sing baritone, tenor and bass all at one time in the sextet from "Lucia." He will also sing an aria from "Tristan and Isolde," doing Tristan's tenor and Isolde's soprano. Now don't ask me how it's all done, because I wouldn't be knowing—but it's interesting, isn't it?

I SHOULD THINK it would be a relief for Faye Emerson Roosevelt to get back to Hollywood and work—what with all of the Congressional talk over her bridegroom, Brig. Gen. Roosevelt borrowing money, and all the publicity he has had. Well Faye has been paged by Warners and is expected back here Aug. 15 for one of the star roles in "Dancing with Tears," the opera which will have Zachary Scott and Janis Paige in the other two leads. Meanwhile, in New York, Faye said Gen. Roosevelt had asked for overseas duty in the Pacific.

JUNE STOREY couldn't understand why Bill White, the General Amusement Corp. executive, stood her up on a date without a word. But she learned today why he didn't show up. While driving to the Valley to get her, he picked up a hitchhiker, who hit him over the head with a piece of iron and knocked him out. White was robbed of his wallet, wristwatch and car. There's been an epidemic of these unfortunate "share the ride" happenings and it's too bad because so many worthy servicemen actually need a lift to get them back to their camps and homes.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT told me that her mother has heard from her own brother in France after a long silence. "And," said Claudette, "mother is so excited she has furnished a room for him and we hope to be able to bring him to this country. He is a dear old man of 71 and certainly couldn't take anyone's job, and naturally, I would see he was taken care of so he wouldn't be a burden. I am hoping and hoping the quota will permit him to come here. It would mean so much to my mother. He's our only living relative in France and his wife died during the war."

JOHNNIE CAMPBELL has acquitted himself with such bravery that he has received a second citation, a Bronze Medal, for bravery "above and beyond the call of duty" on Iwo Jima on Feb. 19. Johnnie, who is a Marine staff sergeant, organized the corpsmen and took care of the wounded on the beach. He was there as a Marine combat correspondent. This is his second citation—the other one he received at Saipan for bravery. He is the son of Managing Editor Jack Campbell of the Los Angeles Herald-Express, and before he went overseas he was in Harry Brand's department at 20th Century-Fox.

SONNY TUFTS is back from his Eastern jaunt with his hand in a sling. A pal slammed a taxi door on it in Atlanta, and he was in the hospital for three days. He's not sorry, he says, because he lost 16 pounds and is now down to a mere 203; the Les Brown Ork opening at the Palladium brought out all the dance fans. Frankie Sinatra came in with his wife and stopped the show; and so did Marilyn Maxwell, in an ice blue dinner dress. She's some looker that gal. June Haver danced every dance with Dave Rose; Gig Young is out of the Navy and back at Warners. He was just starting when Uncle Sam paged him. SUMMERFIELD'S—727 Washington St., Cor. Stuart, Boston

OPEN MONDAY, WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS UNTIL 9 P. M.

Washington Scene

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction Prohibited.

WASHINGTON, July 27—Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin is a stout fellow, a pillar of society and a boon to the cheese industry, which he plugs at the slightest provocation. He is more devoted to curds and whey than little Miss Muffett.

Sen. Wiley

When he first came here in 1938 he used to throw big cheese parties — literally I mean. His guests would practically wallow in cheese. They enjoyed the parties immensely, even if they had to listen to long travel-talks by the Senator on cheese-making in Wisconsin.

The Senator doesn't have much cheese to toss around these days, but he still has plenty of oratory. This is one commodity which hasn't been requisitioned by the armed forces and I'll bet they are glad.

I do not wish this to be constructed as criticism of Senator Wiley, but if he has a fault—which we are not at present prepared to admit—it is that he is inclined to be circuitous. He can ramble farther around the subject than Henry Wallace delivering a bottle of milk to everybody in the world.

In fact, there is a persistent report, which I have never been able to confirm, that a boa constrictor once tried to follow one of Senator Wiley's speeches and got so hopelessly twisted it had to eke out the balance of its years posing for pretzel advertisements.

Anyway, the solon from Chippewa Falls, Wis., got up on the Senate floor the other day to put in a few thousand well-chosen words on the Bretton Woods agreement. He roamed so far and wide it was impossible to determine whether he was for or against it.

Finally, Sen. Abe Murdock of Utah, couldn't stand the strain any longer and blurted:

"Am I to infer that the distinguished Senator from Wisconsin is against the Bretton Woods plan?

It gives me pleasure to report that, for once, Sen. Wiley came back with a direct answer.

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"Marge just had new slip covers made!"

"Oh, no," he said, "I am just getting off a few disconnected thoughts!"

SENATOR WILEY rambled around some more and then got into the most fascinating debate with Sen. Charles W. Tobey, of New Hampshire. It was so wonderful I am recounting it in detail and I know you will not want to miss a word. It began as follows, Senator Wiley speaking:

Sen. Tobey

"Mr. President, I wish to return to a subject which causes my memory to click. I am speaking now in relation to the Bretton Woods agreements. I expect to vote for the Bretton Woods program."

MR. TOBEY: "Mr. President, will the Senator yield?"

MR. WILEY: "I yield."

MR. TOBEY: "The correct pronunciation is 'Bretton'—with a short 'e.' Will the Senator please pronounce it correctly? It jangles my nerves to hear it called 'Bray-ton' Woods."

MR. WILEY: "I thank the Senator, but I am not sure that he is correct. It depends upon whether one is in Wisconsin, N. Y., or the high seas, or in Britain, Brittany, or elsewhere. I am sorry the Senator's nerves are so tender."

MR. TOBEY: "If the Senator were to call it 'Bray-ton' woods in New Hampshire, he might not come out alive."

MR. WILEY: "I do not care to enter into that discussion, because it only takes us away from the discussion of serious matters which we should consider."

I HOPE and trust Senator Wiley does not go to New Hampshire and say the dread word "Brayton." Imagine the jangled nerves on reading a newspaper heading:

MIGHTY INTERESTING volume "The Real F. D. R." a book of pictures and anecdotes about the late President, edited by Clark Kinnaird. Here are two items I liked:

"It was a little known fact that F. D. R. played a part in bringing about the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. In the Democratic convention at Baltimore in 1912, the New York State delegation was split on the candidate. At a psychologically-important moment, young Franklin D. Roosevelt grabbed up the white, framed placard identifying the New York delegation, leaped into the aisle and led a parade for Wilson.

"It turned the tide for the New Jersey Governor and his nomination followed. Aware himself of his significance, F. D. R. preserved the placard on a wall in the room of the Hyde Park House which he used as an office."

"A MEMBER of Congress who was an old friend and had the privilege of speaking his mind, heatedly declared to the President at the White House one day: 'This administration is on the way to hell—it's not a mile away from it this minute.'

"The President chuckled and replied: 'That's the exact distance from here to the Capitol.'"

NEW YORK, July 27—Madame Frances Perkins' next important trip will take her to France— on business — late next month, if plans jell . . . Vivienne Segal is plotting to return to Broadway in a legitimate play, no music involved . . .

Betty Hutton

Feminine reporters in Washton, accustomed to Mrs. Roosevelt's verbal largesse when she was First Lady, are considerably irked that Mrs. Truman is refusing to hold regular press conferences . . . "Huba huba huba" isn't the only Army slang to be assimilated by the jive hounds. The phrase "good deal" is now as audible on 52nd st. as hot riffs, and it originated, of course, with the GI's . . . THERE IS a very good story in the current issue of a magazine, called, "The Mink Stole," which again demonstrates that even the ablest author is in occasional need of a research department when he dares to pin his plot on feminine fashions. Can you bear it? He has the heroine demanding a mink stole, and she comes right out and says the mink stole would cost "in the neighborhood of $400." (She should live so long.) Listen, Mr. Author—that ain't mink, that's wabbit . . . Possibly the feuding Abbott and Costello ought to stop and consider that the only two men in show business who split their partnership and managed to be equally successful as singles are Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey and they can play musical instruments.

This intelligence will cause the headwaiter at Leon & Eddie's several sleepless nights. JAMESTOWN, N. Y., July 27 (AP)—Ready for breakfast, U. S. Dist. Atty. George L. Grobe entered a hotel dining room here and found the waitresses on a sitdown strike in protest against wages and meals.

Home Canning Vital Need

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser garden on the Common.

With victory gardens now reaching the stage where excess crops are available, housewives should realize that it is important to plan a complete canning program.

At present there are good supplies of beans, beets and carrots on the market. If you do not have enough of these in the garden now is the time to buy extras for canning.

Gardens on sandy soils may now begin to show the need of water. There are a number of ways to water a garden, but one factor must be kept in mind, that is thorough soaking rather than light sprinkling. From a disease control standpoint, it is best to keep the foliage dry, but if sprinklers are used water early enough so that the sun can dry the leaves. Soil soaking in small gardens is becoming more popular. Small sections of porous canvas hose are available that do an excellent job. These can be used evenings and moved around where crops need it most. Crops that are susceptible to mildew and other foliage diseases such as cucumbers and tomatoes can be watered by this method to good advantage.

Many gardeners have trouble growing cucumbers in this area due mainly to unfavorable weather and insect attacks. This crop does best when the weather is warm. It requires a moist soil, but dry air to prevent mildew attacks. If you have only a few hills try building a low rack with lath spaced 4 inches apart. It can be built like an A-shaped trellis. Allow enough room under it so that you can reach in and pick the fruit. This method allows for more air circulation and helps to control mildew.

Leg Make-Up Sure to Stay Put

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

THERE ARE MANY COOL, pretty, flattering reasons for using leg make-up during the warm months . . . but when you consider the economy plus the good looks of wearing the camouflage . . . then you have good sense. Couple this thought with the advice of the president of a hosiery manufacturing company to go barelegged this summer because it's patriotic . . . and you have answered all the questions.

SUMMER LEGS that have not yet acquired a natural coat of tan . . . must, but definitely, be camouflaged with the beautifying film of a traditionally fine leg makeup . . . if a girl is to venture forth fastidiously groomed but receptive to the coolth and comfort of such a cosmetic blessing. Warner Star Martha Vickers has intriguing limbs . . . prettier made up than bare.

The only difficulty with bare legs, however, is that most of them are not pretty enough to go out by themselves . . . and that is why a leg make-up proves such a blessing. Have you noticed . . . as you walked along the street . . . how homely untouched bare legs are if they have not acquired a natural coat of tan. There's something anaemic-looking about such nudity . . . it is not, at all, in good taste.

Don't use leg make-up if you don't want to . . . but for heaven's sake be sure your limbs are naturally cafe au lait before venturing forth into daylight. There's no fuss or bother about using an easy-spreading leg make-up . . . especially since it dries so quickly. Of velvety, creamy consistency . . . it will encase your legs in a film of smoothness as pretty as sheer . . . as slimming as the loveliest spidery hosiery.

BLEND THE COLORS

If you've tried other leg camouflage and have found it to be wanting in some instance . . . here's one that's certain to hit the bull's eye of the target with you. Be sure, too, that your legs have an immaculate, fuzz-free, smooth-as-silk surface . . . and a white, fragrantly creamy depilatory will accomplish this for you.

For the smoothest, most even finish to your leg make-up . . . remember to blend it up and over . . . pushing the color away from the part of the instep where the shoe touches. It is necessary, too, to blend the color high above the knee . . . so that even a breeze cannot tell your secret. This extraordinary, splendid leg make-up comes in three sun-burnished shades . . . sun beige, best with black and dark shades . . . sun bronze . . . a tawnier tan, just right with bright vivid colors . . . and sun copper, a still deeper tone, that's wonderful foil for sparkling whites and soft pastels. This leg make-up is so water-resistant . . . you must deliberately wash it off to remove it.

For the name of this stay-put, easily blended, three-shades of leg make-up, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Approves of Trend

By BETTINA BEDWELL

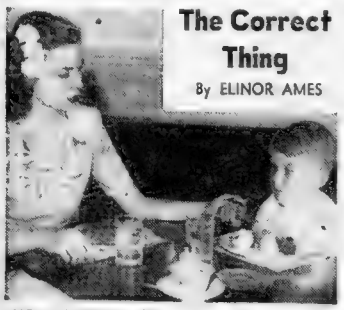
THERE is no doubt about it. Girls are wearing less and less, particularly on the beaches and playspots where they go on vacations. Dresses are worn, it is true, but they are dresses reduced to their least common denominator.

There is nothing to get alarmed about in all this exposure, in my opinion, and it is certainly conducive to more vitamin D in the system. Claire McCardell, who is second to no designer in this country in play clothes fashions, has a bare-backed shift dress this summer, which leaves most of the upper part of a girl's body bare. It is sketched.

Made of white rayon jersey with black polkadots for pattern it has a very deep V front neckline. The red canvas belt is trimmed with black leather.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES



NOT IN PUBLIC—Whenever possible avoid correcting a child in public. If he must be reprimanded, speak quietly to him. Loud scolding, threats and slapping are embarrassing to the child and annoying to others near you. You wouldn't scream abuse at an adult companion in a crowded restaurant. Show the same forbearance in dealing with a child.

Boy Friend Is Only 15

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
My father is very strict, and my mother isn't living.

My problem concerns three brothers. I have gone with the two older ones and now the youngest one has stepped in. He told me he was 20 and he looks that old. But his mother says he is only 15. I'm 17. I like him more than the other two. What do you think I should do? WORRIED.

Mothers can be trusted for knowing the correct ages of their children, and when his mother says the boy is only 15, presumably that's his right age. If you two youngsters would have a pleasant companionship, are interested in sports—tennis, golf, boating—it would probably be good for you both.

But if you are going to turn mushy, be silly, drift into love-making, it wouldn't be good for a boy of 15. A girl of 17 is years and years older than a boy of her own age, girls being older by development than boys, irrespective of birthdays.

At 17, I think your father might begin to let you go out a little.

SWEET, simple and girlish . . . and just as perfect to wear under fall coats as now . . . is this Ted Cohen classically-styled frock . . . fashioned in teloweave . . . a postwar wonder fabric that is non-shrinkable and improves with washing. A shirtwaist model with side closing . . . buttoning out for easy laundering . . . this choice, but ridiculously inexpensive number, is a figure flatterer of high order. — R. M.

Asks 'Happy' Name Back

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
Will you please give me your advice on a problem that means very much to me? Five years ago my first husband, whom I loved very dearly, died. A year ago I remarried, I suppose, because I felt so bereft and lonely and I thought this second husband would be a fine companion to me and my two children. I was terribly mistaken and miserably unhappy. We have separated and I am about to apply for a divorce. Would it be permissible and proper for me to apply to the judge for his permission for me to take back my first husband's name—D.L.

Yes; and I am sure that the judge will grant your request. Under the circumstances it is indeed natural that you should want to take back the name of your first husband, who you so dearly loved, and especially since this is also the name of your children.

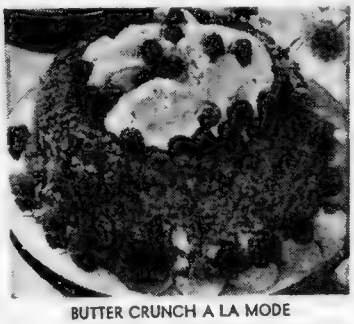
Butter-Crunch Ring Real Dessert Treat

By MARTHA LEE

ICE CREAM WILL FILL the bill of taste enjoyment for lunch, dinner or snacks when the boys are home on furlough. Serve them all the ice cream they can eat. It is one food which can be served alone; needs no advance preparation. Or if served with a sauce, can be as simple and time-saving as necessary.

For a new taste treat, try a butter-crunch ring



BUTTER CRUNCH A LA MODE

filled with ice cream and topped with fruit in season. The cereal ring may be made with your favorite flaked cereal, and the ring may be formed in a ring mold or pressed into a ring on a shallow pan. The crisp, crunchy texture of the cereal is a pleasant contrast to the ice cream, and the fruit will add a tartness that is most refreshing.

BUTTER CRUNCH A LA MODE

¼ tbsp. butter — ½ cup water
1 cup brown sugar — ½ to 5 cups corn flakes
2 tbsp. flour

Melt butter and stir in the combined sugar and flour. Add water, stirring to blend; cook over low heat until mixture forms a soft ball in cold water, 236 deg. F. Quickly pour over cereal, mixing thoroughly. Spread out on large pan and partially cool. Pack into a well-oiled 1-quart ring mold. Chill in refrigerator. Loosen edges with knife and turn out onto serving plate. Fill center with ice cream. Sprinkle fresh or frozen berries on top. Makes 6 servings.

BAKED ALASKA

1 sponge cake — 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 pint ice cream — ½ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Remove center from cake, leaving a ¾-inch thick shell. Fill with ice cream, and cover with meringue made by folding sugar and vanilla into stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) until light brown, about four to five minutes, or put under high broiler heat about one minute, in which case watch closely that meringue does not burn. Serve at once. Makes six servings.

For individual service, prepare small cakes in same way, having shells at least ¾-inch thick. Increase amount of meringue by using one extra egg white and one tspb. more sugar.

PEACH MELBA

6 small ripe peaches — Melba sauce
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Wash and peel peaches. Divide ice cream in six portions and place on individual serving dishes Place peaches on top of ice cream and cover with Melba Sauce. Makes six servings.

MELBA SAUCE

½ cup currant jelly — 1 tsp. cornstarch
1 cup crushed raspberries — ½ cup sugar

Combine jelly and crushed raspberries and juice, and bring to boiling point. Mix cornstarch with sugar and stir into raspberry mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick and clear. Strain and cool. Serve with peach melba. Makes six servings.

HONEY MERINGUE SAUCE

2 egg whites — ½ cup honey

Beat egg whites until foamy. Beat in honey very slowly and continue beating until mixture thickens. Serve immediately with puddings or ice cream. Makes six servings.

MAPLE NUT SAUCE

1 cup maple syrup — ½ cup salted pecans or almonds
½ cup thin cream

Boil maple syrup five minutes. Add cream, stirring constantly. Stir in nut meats, whole or sliced. Serve hot with ice cream. Makes six servings.

FRUIT SAUCE

Fruits may be crushed or sliced, sweetened, and flavored to taste, if you like, with brandy, rum, or a cordial. Preserved fruits may be used without any additional sweetening. Canned fruits may be diced and combined with their own syrup, which has been cooked long enough to thicken. Berries, peaches, or pineapple are particularly appropriate for fruit sauce. Serve with ice cream.

Veterans' Friend

Below are listed several answers to queries regarding returning veterans from the European theater. Scores of questions are being received from persons inquiring about certain units and date of return to the U. S.

Many of these organizations have not been listed as yet by the War Dept. Due to that fact it is impossible to answer a great many of these questions at this time. However, on another page of this newspaper a column entitled "The Boys Come Home" is published, giving details of units due to sail and those arriving at U. S. ports. Latest information on outfits coming home will be found in that column.

L. R., Cambridge: Have no information on return of 3572d Ordnance Medium Maintenance Co. Similar type units, however, are already en route.

A. S., Gloucester: Units of 9th Air Force now in assembly areas, awaiting shipment to the U. S. No sailing date set.

Mrs. M. H., Medford: No reports on outfit you inquired about. Italian brides are expected to come to the U. S. as soon as shipping space is available. Will be several months, according to War Shipping Administration.

R. D., Wilmington: 55th Armored Battalion is scheduled to return to U. S.—have no exact date—with 3rd Army units.

Mrs. A. R., Chelsea: Artillery unit you inquire about should be sailing next month or early in September, according to War Dept.

Mrs. M. G., Cambridge: Advance units of 30th Div. cleared Le Havre last Friday, others leaving Reims now. Unable to state at present where ships will dock in U. S. Civilians are not allowed to meet ships at pier.

J. P., South Boston: No listing on 150th M. M. Ord. Co. Your husband is probably correct when he states that it will be sometime in October. Should be eligible for discharge with the 100 points to his credit.

J. A. G., East Boston: 30th Infantry scheduled to return Main body at Reims, advanced units already on high seas.

R. B., Cambridge: Members of the 86th Div. scheduled for Army of Occupation, not returning this year.

H. P., Medford: It is impossible for me to inform you at this time where son is located and when he is expected to return. Outfit he is attached to does not appear on current shipping lists.

M. R. O., Cambridge: The 94th Div. is not scheduled to return this year.

El Loss $313,000 For 6 Months

The Boston Elevated reported an operating loss of $313,000 during the first six months of the year, with a loss of $55,930 for the month of June alone. In the same six months of last year there was a surplus of $92,605

During the six months of this year the total wage cost was $9,969,896, which was $674,372 greater than for the same period last year, Edward Dana, president and general manager, reported. The amount of back pay not yet provided for is estimated to be about $650,000.

The system carried 215,371,511 passengers in the six months, an increase of 4,850,320.

Bette Davis Captures New Laurels in 'Corn Is Green'

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

Bette Davis adds another jewel to her cinema crown with her performance in "The Corn Is Green," screen version of the Ethel Barrymore stage success which opened yesterday at the Metropolitan.

In many respects this is Miss Davis' best vehicle since "The Little Foxes," also a prize-winning play in which she followed a famous actress. Of her performance in that film, some critics complained that it was too like Talullah Bankhead's (an unjustifiable criticism, in this reporter's opinion). However, as Miss Moffatt, the schoolmistress of "The Corn Is Green," no one can accuse Bette of imitating Miss Barrymore.

The script follows the stage play very closely, and many of the principals and supporting players were members of the original cast. Rhys Williams, who created the role of Mr. Jones on Broadway, is as splendid on the screen as he was on the stage.

The screen has the advantage, in this film, of being unrestricted as to space, so that the Welsh countryside, the miners and villagers in their homes and streets, are actually seen by the audience.

The story is a refreshing change from the usual film fare. A strong-minded spinster, educated far beyond what was considered proper for females in the 90's, take a house in a Welsh mining village and sets about starting a school for the village children and their parents. In the face of ridicule, opposition from the stupid squire and lack of a schoolroom, she perseveres because she has found among the sooty-faced child laborers one boy with the spark of genius

Busse's 'Shuffle Rhythm' Scores

"That's the Spirit," a breezy, unpretentious musical timed to New York "when a little flower was a petunia and not a mayor," and Henry Busse's "shuffle rhythm" teamed with Chester Dolphin's incredible juggling makeup a screen-and-stage bill currently satisfying RKO Boston "regulars."

Brisk, likeable performances by youthful Peggy Ryan and her dancing teammate, Johnny Coy, supported by Gene Lockhart's typed pious banker and Jack Oakie's "fella with the flute," contribute to the entertainment values of Universal's "That's the Spirit."

Henry Busse's on-stage or juke-box "muted trumpet" needs no further endorsement here. It is as celebrated as is his signature band number, "Hot Lips,"

The darkly attractive Roberta followed with such song favorites as "Good, Good, Good," "I Don't Want to Be Loved" and "Oh, How He Lied to Me."

Greer Garson in 'Valley Of Decision' at Loews

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Valley of Decision," Metro's terrifically promoted adaptation of the Marcia Davenport best-seller, opened at Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters to "Miniver" houses.

Elsewhere throughout the country, the picture with the sensational box office team of Greer Garson and Gregory Peck is presently . . . in Variety's expressive American . . . whammo, boffola, a bellringer, decisive and solid at boxoffices in as many key cities.

The fact that gorgeous, flame-haired, witty Miss Garson is again a creature of goodness and light whose presence is a benediction would seem to make a stupendous hit with the paying customers.

As a not so wide-eyed patron of the cinema, our gripe is that her warm, enchanting portrayal of Mrs. Chips has condemned one of Hollywood's finest comediennes to a succession of humorless carbon-copy characterizations.

In "Valley of Decision," one of those bated-breath productions whose script never lives up to the mere all-out expensiveness of its physical properties and the distinguished rollcall of names, Greer impersonates an Irish housemaid.

Her fairy-tale romance is almost blighted by the fantastic feud existing between the mill tycoon-father of Gregory Peck, the man she loves, and her own curmudgeon in a wheelchair-parent, Lionel Barrymore.

But Miss Garson's celebrated, copyrighted "charm that is like the bloom on a woman" and her modest wonder-woman technique clear all obstacles

And on the subject of love . . . and kisses . . . that almost deafening nudge of musical harmony when Garson and Peck go into their first clinch is certainly no score for Metro's side. This is carrying mood-music to ridiculous lengths.

Jap PWs Lead Luxury Life In U. S. Tourist Hotel

By AUSTEN LAKE

FOR SENSATIONS OF HITTING the rum-bottle with none of the deleterious after-affects I recommend a leisurely perusal of the Congressional Record, that compendium of wit, whimsy and wisecrack which gives a word-by-word account of what happens on the floor of the House and Senate. There are moments when it makes coherent sense.

Austen Lake

For example in the recent July 21 issue (p. 8061) Congressman Springer of Indiana is addressing the chair: "Mr. Speaker—When Germany fell a large number of high Japanese military officers were captured . . . The latest information is that these officers, 193 in number, were brought to this country. They were taken to a fine, commodious hotel at Bedford Springs, Pa., for detention. This is a rich man's playground and there they are, established in luxurious suites with rich foods to eat and every accommodation available only to wealthy and exclusive people . . ."

(Ed.—The writer, from former acquaintanceship with Bedford Springs can testify that this is truly a glamor spot in one of America's most pictorial settings. The hotel is surrounded by horticultural beauty, broad lawns and pretty rural vistas. It has wide verandas like the flounces of a lady's skirt. Its cuisine was presided over by lordly chefs and batteries of cooks. Its furnishings were in what Vogue magazine would call "exquisite decor." Its rates began at $15 and soared upwards. I couldn't afford that kind of tariff and lodged elsewhere.)

Oh for the Life of a PW!

MR. SPRINGER—"MR. SPEAKER—These are our enemies, prisoners of war, and should be treated as other Japanese prisoners. Meanwhile the American people are wondering what character of treatment is being accorded to General Wainwright and our high Army officials in Japanese hands. They are wondering what treatment is extended all our boys, some 35,000 of them, in those ghostly prison camps of the Jap."

(Ed—That's a bit of rhetorical extravagance! We're not wondering! We know! Liberated prisoners, including many women and children, have given us too much grisly testimony on this subject to allow wonder. The bestial brutalities of the Jap are on record, as are those of their colleagues in mind and deed, the Germans.)

Mr. Springer—"Our soldiers and officers are held in unspeakable prison holes, with little food and filthy surroundings. They have no fine, luxurious hotel to house them, nor rich foods and service. They are not coddled and pampered, but are tortured and beaten as a daily menu . . . It is my judgment that these 193 Japanese military officers should be placed in war prison camps and treated as all other Japanese PWs."

Mrs. Edith Rogers of Massachusetts—"Is it not true that in many hotels our people cannot get adequate food? Food is inadequate in many hotels and restaurants today, as well as in homes."

(Ed.—It is also reasonable to suspect that the U. S. Army, in requisitioning the Bedford Springs Hotel, is compensating its owners fully for the loss of summer season revenues. The hotel accommodates more than 500 guests. The compensation bill therefore would run high into the hundred thousands, all out of the jolly old U. S. taxpayer's pocket.)

Mr. Gearhart of California—"While we are thinking of this strange solicitude of our government for the comfort of Japanese prisoners, that policy has been extended to German PWs as well. I have learned that German PWs are being moved around the country in our most luxurious Pullman cars while our own soldiers, many of them returned from the battlefields, are being moved in cars of such ancient vintage they are not fit for human occupancy. This contrast should not exist in a republic."

(Ed.—The writer's own knowledge of Pullman travel for Kraut PWs is hearsay. But when Germany moved U. S. prisoners they did so either on foot, by long, forced marches at bayonet point and with brutal beatings, often fatal, for men who fell out from fatigue; or by boxcars, so closely packed and without sanitary means, that men died and were held upright by the press of surrounding bodies. I offer testimony of more than 50 Boston ex-PWs and uncounted numbers of others whom I saw liberated by the Fourth Army in Germany.)

The Case of Col. Descheneaux

MRS. ROGERS—"WHILE WAR WAS still in progress, I understand German officers were flown here in plush-fitted planes while our own soldiers came back in bucket-seat ships . . ."

(Ed.—This observation traces to a report the writer made after returning from France in October, 1944. With 20-odd U. S. soldiers and officers, he flew from Prestwick, Scotland, in a four-motor transport. The accommodation consisted of rows of metal bucket seats placed longitudinally under the windows, seats shaped like shallow wash basins, and scarcely more comfortable, in a passage that consumed 26 hours. Sleeping facilities were quilted blankets on the wooden floor. Food was box lunches.

Nobody kicked about that. Every soldier was tickled silly to be able to fly home instead of shipping tediously in a surface convoy. But what did stick in their gullets was the sight of 15 ranking German officers in a preceding plane that was a luxury stratoliner with cushioned reclining seats, a steward to caddy for their wants, vacuum containers to keep the food hot. There they sat, some imperiously glaring with monocles in their eyes, puffing U. S. cigarets and looking like wealthy tourists. Our guys griped plenty about that.

Nor did Germany, any more than Japan does now, accord our ranking PWs any better treatment than the lowliest U. S. buckaroo. Take the case of Eagle Col. George L. Descheneaux of 140 William st., Portland, Me.—CO of the 42 Infantry. He got the same daily ration of a few ounces of black bread, canteen cup of watery soup and slept on a concrete floor. He contracted tuberculosis and is now recovering in a Denver TB hospital. Selah!

Dave Ferriss Works On Ever Dangerous Clift

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Have the Senators shot their bolt? After winning 11 and losing 4 in the West and skyrocketing to second place, Ossie Bluege's Washingtons came home to win six and lose eight. Yet they're only 3 games out of first place because Detroit lost 8 of 12 in the East.

Partial answer to the Senators' future will be provided in the three-game series (single Sunday) with the Red Sox which opened at Fenway Park today. Prospects are they'll play bang-up ball. Strangely, the Senators always seem to do better on the road than at home. One reason is that they play practically all their home games at night. They don't like 'em. Another is that their home park isn't built for home runs. And it was Clift's home run streak that gave them such a remarkable record in the West.

Harland Clift

Clift's comeback has been startling and unexpected. When the Sox last were in Washington he was warming the bench watching Hillis Layne play third base expertly. A succession of injuries had caused St. Louis to give up on him. No longer did he rap out 29 and 34 homers a season as he did in '37 and '38. He was considered "washed up."

But Layne came down with a pulled tendon, and Clift was sent to the post. He was quiescent in Washington but when the Nats came to Boston Clift got the smell of the short left field fence in his nostrils and started to go to town. He made the first home run off Ferriss. He started on a splurge that gave him eight home runs in a month and made the Senators the hottest club in the league.

Clift doesn't hit homers in Washington. Few right-handers can with the left field wall 406 feet away. But he'll probably find the range again here. This is his favorite park.

Needless to add, Layne can't oust him from the spot. Not while he's hitting. And the Senators will be a pennant threat while he's hitting.

They've got speed to burn, Case is leading the league in stolen bases with 19 and Myatt is on his back with 18. And Centerfielder Zardon, who is doing better at the post than Chapple, Case or Binks, is as fast as either Case or Myatt.

Case is one of the league's three leading batters. Binks is up with the elite in runs batted in. The Senators get good pitching from knuckle-ballers Niggeling, Wolff and Leonard, from southpaw Haefner and right-hander Pieretti.

There isn't a standout club in the league. The Senators have as good a chance for the flag, on paper, as any of the other six contenders. Especially if Clift keeps hitting.

Buddy Lewis, Washington's great infielder of two years ago, is back from the wars. He will see action against the Sox. Bud has been flying over Indian and Burma for two years. It might take time for the dependable Buddy to regain his baseball legs. It's a cinch, however, he has lost none of that keen batting perception that has given him an American League lifetime record of .304.

Braves Troubadours At Least Made Good

By BILL GRIMES

NEW YORK, July 27—Virtually, the Braves-Dodgers' four-game series, which opens this afternoon at Ebbets Field, will be a three ring circus.

In the center ring today, the Braves will be endeavoring to break a five game losing streak. The Colemen collapsed almost completely in the West. They dropped three out of four to the Cubs. And, after breaking even in St. Louis and Cincinnati, they lost five in a row to the Pirates. They are now six games under .500. Since they left home, the Braves have won 5 and lost 11 decisions.

In the ring at the north end of the "big top," Tommy Holmes and Goodie Rosen will battle it out for the lead in the race for the National League batting honors.

In the ring at the south end of the "big top," the Braves "troubadours," Pete Herman, "Sparky" Tomasetti and Hy Brenner, will stage a death defying act. They will whoop it up for the Braves with their cymbals, trombone and trumpet.

The Braves troubadours were smash hits in Chicago, St. Louis and Pittsburgh. As Peter Herman, the cymbalist, remarked: "If we'd drunk all the beer the fans gave us in Chicago we wouldn't have been able to play a note."

The band did all right in St. Louis, too, until Hymie Brenner popped up with a fever of 106, which cut them from a trio to a duo. They didn't make Cincinnati but when "Pie" Traynor took them in tow in Pittsburgh, the musicians saw the town night clubs, radio interviews and fights. The Smoky City fans treated them royally, for Pete, "Sparky" and Hymie really turned it on at Forbes Field.

Feller Retains Pitching Magic While in Navy

By JACK CONWAY

BOB FELLER'S remarkable pitching for the Great Lakes naval team in games against the Cubs, Red Sox, Athletics and service teams proves that if a major leaguer has youth on his side that he does not lose his athletic ability while he is in the armed services.

Feller was at sea for most of two years before he was assigned to Great Lakes as manager of the ball club.

It was felt that Feller would not do a great deal of pitching for Great Lakes, and that he would be content to run the club from the bench with an occasional part time mound appearance. Feller, however, became the first string flinger for Great Lakes. He turned in one of his best efforts against the Cubs who he held to three hits and defeated by a score of 1 to 0. He had previously pitched a no hit game against the Ford club, but naturally the opposition was not of a big league nature.

Bob Feller

I would rather rate Feller off his games with the Cubs, Red Sox and Athletics when he blazed his best pitches past big league batters. Feller has won nine games for Great Lakes, while he has scored 120 strikeouts.

Feller is one of the most natural pitchers ever to enter the big leagues. From the time he was a youngster his dad, who had been a ball player, schooled him in the art of pitching in the hope that some day he would make good in the big leagues. Feller justified the hopes that his dad had in his baseball future.

At the height of his baseball career, Feller entered the service. He has spent most of his Naval career at sea where he did not have many opportunities even to throw a baseball.

At the age of 27 Feller still retains his baseball magic. If the war should end before next spring and Bob is able to get discharged from the Navy, he should take up his big league career where he left off.

★ ★ ★

Williams and Pesky

TED WILLIAMS, Johnny Pesky and Dom DiMaggio of the Red Sox, like Feller, also have youth on their side. They should be able to play good baseball when they return to the big leagues. Williams is one of the most natural batters the game ever has known and it is likely he will still be a great hitter when he returns to the Sox.

Johnny Pesky was a sensation as a rookie at the bat and in the field. He was a .300 hitter while he fielded brilliantly at shortstop.

In the early days of the war, Pesky gave considerable thought as to whether he would have his old form as a ball player when he got out of service.

"Baseball is a fast game," he said to me, "and some youngster may come along who will be able to take over my berth at shortstop."

I remarked that Johnny was still young.

"Once a ball player loses his speed, he cannot cover the same amount of ground," he replied. "I do hope I have all of my speed when I get back into baseball."

Pesky could have been a big league hockey player if he had wished. He was able to play hockey as well as baseball. Johnny's mother had seen him come home on numerous occasions with bad injuries after playing hockey, and it was on her advice that Pesky selected baseball for a career over the ice game.

Ruffing Impressive In Win Over Macks

By Associated Press

Red Ruffing still has enough on the ball at 41 to be a winner in wartime baseball despite an absence of two and a half years spent in the Army Air Corps.

Bulging at the waistline but canny and control-keen in his pitching, the first of the "Old Yankees" to return to the Yankee Stadium made an encouaging start along the comeback trail in yesterday's 13-4 New York romp over Philadelphia.

It must have been welcome news to Manager Joe McCarthy in Buffalo, for the victory pulled the tail-spinning Yankees out of a losing streak that had cost them 17 of their last 24 games.

Ruffing wasn't able to finish although he had a neat two-hit shutout through the first six innings, played in oppressive heat and gathering gloom that twice forced interruptions, once for an hour. It was so dark in the mid-innings that spectators followed the ball only by watching movements of the players.

Charley, the Red, sat out the long wait and picked up again where he had left off. But after tripling in the sixth, was forced to retire after yielding a walk, two singles and the first A's run in the seventh. Al Gettel finished but Ruffing received credit for the victory.

Not since the final game of the 1942 World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals had Ruffing started a major league game. Then, under similar shadowy weather conditions, Whitey Kurowski pulled a fast ball into the left field stands completing the upset of the Yanks.

New York's victory in the only scheduled American League contest sent them into a three-way tie with Chicago and Boston for third place, only four lengths behind leading Detroit.

Cincinnati continued to contribute to the support of the Chicago Cubs, bowing to the National pace-setters for the ninth straight time, 2-1. Hank Wyse did the job on the Reds, who haven't beaten the Bruins this year, an eight-hitter for win No. 11, tops in the circuit. Brilliant support by Stan Hack helped send Ed Heusser down for his eighth setback.

St. Louis kept step with the Cubs by slaughtering Pittsburgh, 10-2, knocking out Nick Strincevich, who had beaten them twice, in the second frame. The Birds banged three Pirate tossers for 18 safeties, including a perfect four-for-four for Augie Bergamo as Ken Burkhardt coasted to his 11th triumph.

The four eastern clubs in the National were en route home and not scheduled, but all 16 major leaguers are due for action today.

Steele Credits Ring for Success

PHILADELPHIA, July 27 (AP)—Freddie Steele, former middleweight boxing champion, is back in Philadelphia today for the preview here of the film about the life of the late Ernie Pyle, "The Story of G. I. Joe."

Steele quit the ring in 1940 to go to Hollywood but his cinematic ambitions weren't achieved until he won the role of the sergeant in the G. I. picture.

"I owe everything to the boxing game," he said, "which gave me my financial start."

Former Harvard Star On So. Carolina Staff

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 27 (AP)—Head coach Johnny McMillan announced today the addition of three part-time assistants to the University of South Carolina football coaching staff.

The three, all connected with the Navy training program at the university, are Lt. Bob Haley, former Harvard star; Frits Turner, former South Carolina guard and a civilian physical training instructor with the university's Navy program, and William E. Brinkley, Navy physical training specialist.

Haley will coach the Gamecock backs.

Park Playoff Preview Tonight

A preview of the Park League playoffs, set for a week hence, will take place tonight when the Dick Casey Club of Dorchester, present holders of first place in the twilight loop, travel to East Boston's American Legion playground to meet the looping Navy Yarders who, in the past three games, have amassed the staggering total of 41 runs scored against the opposition while yielding but eight.

With but a week of the season left to play, the Navy Yarders are but one game behind the Caseys and a win tonight for the sailors would pull them into a first place tie. Jim Ryan, the husky six-footer, will twirl for the Navy Yard while "Cy" Epstein will go for the Caseys.

The Hal Crosby Club, victims of a 15 to 5 pasting at the hands of the Navy Yard last night, will meet the Roslindale Town Team at Fallon Field and they will be out to win a brace of points after dropping four during the week. The other game slated for tonight, brings the two South Boston representatives—the McCarthy Club and the Linehan Club—to grips at the South Boston Stadium.

Ferriss May Make Record

By FRED HOEY

Incomparable Dave Ferriss has the boys delving into record books. His present 17-2 mark offers potentially a modern pitching record. The Red Sox have 69 remaining games. Figuring on the usual four-day lapse between pitching assignments, Ferriss has a chance to win 17 of the 69 games. This would give him 34 wins. In addition, he might be called in to save a game in its late stages and get credit for the win.

For a little fan fodder here's a list of pitchers who have won more than 20 games in a season:

Robert Moses Grove, Athletics	1931	Won 31—Lost 4	Pct.	.886
Smoky Joe Wood, Red Sox	1912	Won 34—Lost 5	Pct.	.872
Lefty Gomez, Yankees	1935	Won 26—Lost 5	Pct.	.839
Walter Johnson, Senators	1913	Won 36—Lost 7	Pct.	.837
Spud Chandler, Yankees	1943	Won 20—Lost 4	Pct.	.833
Carl Hubbell, Giants	1936	Won 26—Lost 6	Pct.	.813

Shoeless Horse Wins Fourth Race

W. C. McDermott, trainer of Newcaster, stopped the losing streak of his charge yesterday at Suffolk Downs. This speedster has been cutting himself badly and stopping in recent races. Trainer McDermott hit on the idea of racing this juvenile without forward shoes.

He was granted permission by the stewards and sent this speedy trick to the barrier in the fourth race "without." As a result, Newcaster came home in front.
